(By "The Stroller")

"If I don't hate house-cleaning time!" remarked a gentleman friend to us 'tother day.

(And we don't know as we blame him.)

"My wife tears out here, changes the furniture there, gets busy with the painters and paper-hangers, and digs and scrubs in general," he rambled on. "And of course house-cleaning isn't complete until she drags me into some of it."

Strange! But the men that we know seem to agree on this subject. Probably it interrupts their bountiful meals and choice dishes for a time—and if that is the main reason we don't wonder at the reaction.

Finland Calls Troops to Colors

By Elias Erko

(I. N. S. Special Correspondent)
Helsinki, Finland, Oct. 10.—Determined to maintain her hard-won independence, Finland called her troops to the colors and strengthened her Russian boundary today.

As Dr. Juho Paasikivi, the country's greatest expert on Russo-Finnish affairs, sped to Moscow, the government took urgent measures to strengthen the border as proof that Finland will not bow without protest to any "unreasonable" demand the Soviets may make.

It was repeatedly emphasized that Finland's relations with Russia remain friendly.

Finland's independence was never completely surrendered, even during long centuries under Russian sovereignty. Even under the Czars Finland retained the status of a grand duchy.

The Finns witnessed with dismay the surrender of Estonia, Lithuania, and Latvia to Soviet demand.

Immediate consultation with other Scandinavian powers led to what is now regarded as a firm determination by all of the countries in the Scandinavian Peninsula to resist any further westward push by the Soviets.

Reports stated that Sweden had called 250 men to arms. The Finns, backed by Sweden and Norway, will resist any attempt by the Soviets to seize the strategic Aaland Islands, lying between Finland and Sweden, upon which the Russians have long cast envious eyes.

A Helsinki dispatch to the London Daily Mail said 30 Red army divisions were massed within 25 miles of the Finland border. Other London papers said a "black-out" rehearsal was scheduled for tonight at Helsinki, and that households were warned to take all measures for protection against air attacks after Thursday evening.

THREE LEGION POSTS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

Morrisville Post Also Receives Trophy for Baseball Championship

NAME DISTRICT DEPUTY

MORRISVILLE, Oct. 10.—Three Bucks County posts of the American Legion installed officers at a joint ceremony held Thursday evening here in the headquarters of Willet C. Sanford Post, No. 433.

Michael Kish, of Sanford Post; Johnson Miller, of Knowles Doyle Post; Yardley, and Michael Durham, of Robert W. Bracken Post, Bristol, were installed as commanders of their respective organizations. New Hope, originally scheduled to take part in the installation, was forced to cancel its appearance. Installation was under the supervision of Jacob Schmidt, of Bristol, district commander.

Praising our constitutional form of government, Frank Matthews, of Palmyra, N. J., was the principal speaker. Matthews, past department commander of New Jersey and a member of the national executive committee, said that democracy is the most important object of the legionnaires at this time. He was introduced by Lester Block, of Trenton, New Jersey past department commander.

It was announced that a bronze plaque for the flagpole at the new Robert Morris Athletic Field has been paid for by past commanders of Sanford Post and will be put at the base of the pole when it is dedicated.

Its inscription reads, "Presented by the Willet C. Sanford Post, No. 433, and Auxiliary, 1929."

A huge silver trophy was received by Commander Kish from Robert Hemmas, of Bristol, because the Sanfords won the baseball championship of the Bucks County Junior League the past season. Perkaskie held the cup last year. Hemmas is county baseball chairman.

District Commander Schmidt announced the reappointment of Caleb Cope, of Morrisville, as deputy district commander. Edward Mountford was named county chairman of members.

The session was a short one because there was little business to transact.

LANGHORNE COUNCIL TO PURCHASE SMALL TRACT

Officials Receive Agreement From Government For Leasing Post Office

MAY OPEN NEW STREET

LANGHORNE, Oct. 10.—At a recent meeting of Borough Council authorization was given the property committee to purchase the Acuff lot on Richardson avenue, and to sell the old borough lot on Pine street. The Pine street tract has been used for the storage of gravel and other road construction material. The Acuff lot will give the borough access from the rear on Richardson avenue, to the town hall, and will fill a long felt need in this regard. A drive will be constructed from Richardson avenue to the borough building.

The borough has received from the Post Office Department a three-year extension to the lease for the use of part of the town hall for post office purposes at the same rental as in the past, $100 per month. The borough will make a number of changes to the interior of the building to fit the needs of the post office.

There has been quite some discussion the past few months of the possibility of the government erecting its own post office building in Langhorne as is being done in many other places. A large and commodious structure was suggested. It is said, however, that Langhorne's chances of procuring such a project at this time are not very favorable, particularly because local authorities are averse to it on account of the amount of money that has been expended on the town hall to make it fit the needs of the post office.

The borough has just finished paying off some $9,000 in bonds that were issued to take care of this building project in former years, and the loss of the rental from the same, it is felt, would affect all borough taxpayers.

The committee on sewers made a preliminary report, and is still investigating the project.

Applications for opening new streets were referred to the borough solicitor for his advice as to the legal side of the matter.

Permission was given the Langhorne Fire Company to renovate the basement of the town hall at their own expense.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

"Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc."

The Undercover Game

Washington, Oct. 9.—THE correct attitude for an American citizen when his country is at war or threatened with war is to support the President whether he thinks he has been a good or a bad President. There is nothing else to do.

SO far from Mr. Ickes' determination not to discuss the third term in his recent radio debate being evidence that the third-term movement has been even temporarily suspended, the reverse is true. Actually, the people who were most active in managing the movement before the war broke out and who were deeply depressed at the way it had bogged down are today in a high state of excitement over the prospects and, hiding behind the non-partisan attitude of the President.

BUT this does not mean that in a period when there is no involvement imminent and the debate is only on how to stay out, it is necessary to be blind, deaf and dumb to what is going on under cover in Presidential circles. Co-operation on foreign policy ought not to mean covering up palace politics. Yet that is what the palace politicians are anxious to have it mean. I happen to believe that the President's proposal to raise the embargo is right though I think to call it neutral is hypocritical. But that hardly involves an obligation to keep quiet about the calculated effort of Mr. Roosevelt's political strategists to utilize the present war situation to keep Mr. Roosevelt in the White House and themselves in power.

FINDS DEAD ALLIGATOR IN CANAL THIS MORNING

Harry Swank, Wood Street, Takes 2-Foot 'Gator to Police Station

SEEN ALIVE 10 DAYS AGO

One of Bristol's ardent fishermen came home from the fishing "banks" this morning with something he didn't bargain for or even expect to see—a two-foot alligator.

The "catch," a dead one, was made by Harry Swank, 336 Wood street, in the canal between Green Lane and Haines Road.

As Mr. Swank was fishing, hoping for one of the prize members of the finny tribe which he has noticed in that section, he saw the lifeless alligator floating about six feet from shore. Hauling it to the bank, he took it to the Bristol police station.

The 'gator weighs approximately 10 pounds, and is believed to have died from lack of food, and was probably affected by the cold nights of last week. Grass was found in its mouth, showing that attempts had been made to secure something for sustenance.

On October 1st residents of this section reported an alligator in the canal. Chief Linford Jones and his men of Bristol police force, together with Bucks County detective Anthony M. Russo were notified. Russo, in company with deputy game warden Daniel Potter, of Newportville, went to the section of the canal where the alligator had been reported. They watched for some time, but no such animal made its appearance, even to sun for a time.

Today is the first since that time that the alligator has been reported seen, and many are glad that it is now not in the world of the living. Mr. Swank states that he fished at the same spot yesterday, and saw no signs of it.

The attendance banner was awarded to the Emilie Methodist Church which had an attendance of 15 men.

Refreshments and games were enjoyed in the recreation hall of the church.

EXONERATE OFFICER WHO SHOT NEGRO TAKEN AS SUSPECT

Montgomery Co. Coroner's Jury Commends Private Roller R. Beckhart

INQUEST, NORRISTOWN

Coroner Winslow J. Rushong Highly Praises Verdict of Jury

NORRISTOWN, Oct. 10.—Private Roller R. Beckhart, attached to the Doylestown sub-station of Pennsylvania Motor Police, was exonerated yesterday by a Montgomery county Coroner's jury in the death of Philip A. Kemp, 32-year-old Negro houseman who was shot to death by the officer on the night of September 26 after he is alleged to have robbed the home of a former employer in Warrington Township.

The jury at the inquest held in the Court House here exonerated Private Beckhart and in addition commended him for his courage shown in line of duty. The Negro was shot and killed in a struggle that took place between the two in a Motor Police car after the Negro had been picked up as a suspect for questioning.

Coroner Winslow J. Rushong, Montgomery County, highly praised the verdict of the jury and personally praised Private Beckhart as an outstanding officer.

Beckhart will be taken before Justice of the Peace W. Carlisle Hohenback, Doylestown, some time this week when District Attorney Edward G. Blester, who attended the inquest, will ask for his release and discharge. He has been under bond on his own recognizance since the night of the shooting, on a charge of manslaughter.

The Negro was pronounced dead at the Abington Memorial Hospital which is in Montgomery county and that is why the inquest was held in Montgomery county.

Dr. Simpson, Coroner's physician, testified that he performed the autopsy on Kemp and removed two bullets. He testified that a gunshot wound in the abdomen caused death.

Sergeant William Engle, of the Doylestown sub-station of Motor Police, testified that he informed Private Beckhart on the night of the shooting that a Negro was wanted for robbing the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lee, Warrington township, of $92 in cash. He said Private Beckhart was called in from patrol duty at Montgomeryville and it was then that he (Engle) told him to be on the lookout for a Negro who had robbed the Lee home.

Later on the same evening, Sergeant Engle said that he received a call from Beckhart from Neshaminy that the Negro had been shot in a struggle with the officer. Sergeant Engle said that he proceeded to the Pitcairn Flying Field where he caught up with Private Beckhart who was taking the Negro to the hospital. The sergeant transferred Private Beckhart to his car and continued on to the hospital with Private Beckhart's car being driven by another officer, with the dead Negro in the rear.

Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo, Bristol, testified that he investigated the case as prosecutor and told the story that Beckhart told him. He produced a number of articles found in the police car where the struggle took place, including Mrs. Lee's pocketbook and other articles that fell out of the pocketbook which contained the stolen money. The officer's revolver which was taken out of his holster while he was changing gears, was also offered in evidence, together with a piece of the butt which was chipped off in the fight. The dead man's clothing.

Auto Plant Closes

Detroit, Oct. 10.—The Chrysler Corporation's Kercheval plant making bodies for Chrysler and DeSoto automobiles, was shut down today, bringing the total idle to 12,000 in the dispute between Chrysler and CIO's auto workers union.

Corporation officials said the Kercheval plant was shut down because of a strike of girl workers in the arm-rest department. Richard T. Frankenstein, head of the Chrysler division union, denied a strike, saying the workers were ordered from the plant after union girls argued with non-union girls in the arm rest division.

STICKS AND STONES

The European war progresses not without much name-calling, exchange of verbal indignities which reach into living rooms throughout the world by courtesy of the radio loudspeaker.

Winston Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty, has declared that the Allies will not cease their warring activities until Adolf Hitler "has had enough." The only determinant for an end of the conflict, the Britisher asserted, is "how long Herr Hitler and his group of gangsters, whose hands are stained with blood and sticky with corruption, can keep their grip upon the docile, unhappy German people."

The admiralty chief's radio talk prompted immediate response from the other side of the Rhine, Hans Fritzsche, editor-in-chief of the Nazi broadcasting services, retorted: "So that (the Churchill speech) is what that dirty gangster thinks! Who does that filthy liar think he is fooling! So Mr. Churchill—that bloated swine—spouts through his dirty teeth that in the last week no English ship has been molested by German submarines? He does, indeed! There you have the twisted and diseased mind of this infamous profiteer and specialist in stinking lying."

With Twentieth Century civilization giving us the radio as a means of dissemination, one wonders how true is the complacent belief that sticks and stones may break my bones but names will never hurt me. It is becoming increasingly obvious that both sides in the struggle count heavily on names as well as bombs.

KENTUCKY'S CHALLENGE

Once upon a time the trails which led over the mountains of Kentucky were impassable except for men who were equipped with boots big enough to do duty as mudboots or snowshoes, and big enough, too, to store contraband liquor. The "revenooers" discovered the caches in the bootlegs and created a new word in the language.

The bootleg may be a thing of the past, but the practice persists. In place of the leg of the boot, and the mule back with a jug on each side of the saddle, the makers and distributors of illegal liquor employ in their business high-powered cars, equipped with overweight springs to carry big loads to retail outlets, according to a dispatch from Frankfort, Kentucky.

The moonshiner has not disappeared. On the contrary, he still flourishes in the Kentucky hills. One auto can transport as much liquor as a score of mules and a hundred legs of boots. The arm of the law is by no means lamed by this continued activity of the moonshiners. State and federal authorities are ever on the alert in the mountain counties, such as Bath, Menifee, Rowan and Fleming, but according to information from the state capital, the mountain folk have discovered many new ways to outwit the officers and many legal loopholes which the authorities are kept busy plugging up.

This fall should make less trouble for headline writers. Poland is so much shorter than Czechoslovakia.

Another All-American swing band is named by a famed maestro. As usual, though, he fails to swear out warrants.

Getting along with the prize squash in lieu of a persiphere, the county fairs of the country are doing very well.

monwealth of Penna. took possession of the business and property of the Cornwell State Bank.

It is alleged the defendant has failed to pay a note and the suit is brought to recover the sum of $312.45, with interest from January 14, 1932, and protest fees of $2.20.

President Judge Keller is presiding. Declaring that jury duty is an incumbent on the part of a good citizen as is military duty, President Judge Hiram H. Keller, in the opening session of the October term of civil and equity court yesterday, made it clear that no jurors will be excused solely for business reasons.

President Judge Keller said that people who submit the names of men and women for jury duty should ascertain whether they can serve.

He expressed dissatisfaction with jurors who ask to be excused except for the most urgent reasons.

During miscellaneous court Judge Calvin S. Boyer released two defendants on detainers and one on parole.

John F. Freed, 29, and Howard J. Hessler, 29, both of Trumbauersville, who were sentenced September 6, were released by Judge Boyer on condition that they pay the costs of prosecution.

TO PARTICIPATE IN HORSE SHOW NEAR DOYLESTOWN

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 10.—Members of the Huntingdon Valley Riding and Driving Association will take part in the horse show to be given by the Buckingham Junior Women's Club at Deben Riding Academy on the Cold Spring Creamery Road, three miles east of here, starting at 1:30 on the afternoon of October 14. The proceeds will be used to carry on the philanthropic work of the club during the year.

Plans for the show were announced by Miss Betty Atkinson and Mrs. John Middleton, Sr., of Lahaska, at a recent meeting of the Huntingdon Valley Riding and Driving Association at the home of Clara Elliott, Noble.

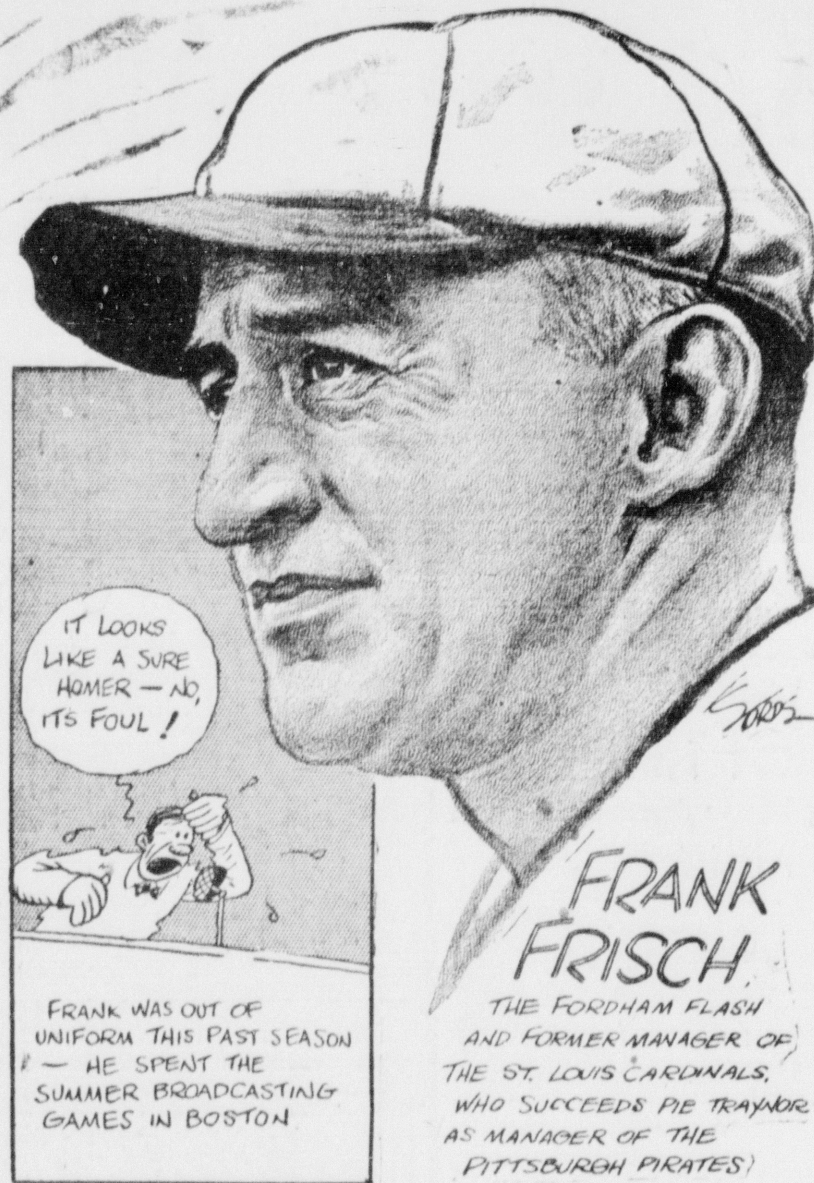

Three judges for the show have already been selected. They include Colonel D. M. Ashbridge, Newark, Del.; Mrs. Frederick Van Lennep, Philadelphia; and Stuart Rose, Malvern.

Although Clifford Brumfield was unable to serve as judge, due to previous engagements, he rendered material service in an advisory capacity to help make the show a complete success. Roland Baker, of Philadelphia, will be ring master, and Dr. Adolf Berg, Doylestown, and Dr. W. A. Haines, Jr., Newtown, will officiate as veterinarians. Samuel E. Spare, of Doylestown, will be steward, and Earl Fricke, director of instrumental music at Doylestown High School, will direct the band at the show.

Announcement has also been made that a slight change has been made in the schedule of events since the entry blanks were mailed more than a week ago to all interested parties. Restrictions have been withdrawn from the three-gaited horse class in that the owner or an immediate member of his family will not be required to ride.

The Buckingham Horse Show is already assured of many beautiful trophies. Some of the donors include: Arthur M. Eastburn, Doylestown; William F. Frytz, Pipersville; John S. Williams, Pebble Hill; Harry M.

BACK IN HARNESS - By Jack Sords

Smith, Doylestown; Dr. M. Arnold-Huneker, Browns Mills, N. J.; Mrs. Cora U. Abel, Philadelphia; Fulmer Miller, Doylestown; Raymond T. Crane, Lahaska; Dr. Bradford Green, Buckingham; Henry D. Paxson, Jr., Holcom; J. H. Blanchard, Holcom; Buckingham Women's Club, and John C. Knight, Holcom.

Chief of Police James P. Welsh, Doylestown, has detailed Officer Coulton to direct traffic at the ringside, and eight members of the Junior Police will assist and set up the jumps. Samuel Leaver, Mechanicsville, Boy Scout bugler, will assist the ring master.

The Midway Volunteer Fire Company has granted the use of a refreshment booth and equipment. Discussing the approaching show, Mrs. John Arnold, Wycombe, chairman of the show, said that she is gratified by the instant response and kindly co-operation of numerous persons in Bucks county and elsewhere to make the show a success. She said the club was faced with the difficult task of endeavoring to present an interesting show and, at the same time, keep expenditures in bounds that the fund thus derived may be almost entirely devoted to charitable purposes. Due to the assistance of many public-spirited residents, she believes that the club will be quite successful with the show.

It was also announced at the meeting at the Elliot home in Noble that the Huntingdon Valley Association hopes to hold a meeting in or near Doylestown in the near future to appeal to farmers and others to keep the beautiful horse trails in this vicinity open to the enjoyment of riders.

ing was also offered in evidence.

John Lee, nephew of the victim who was robbed, and who summoned the police, testified. He stated that he heard Mrs. Lee scream and saw a Negro whom he recognized as Kemp jump out of a second story window at the Lee home. Kemp, he testified, formerly worked for the Lees.

Mrs. Anna J. Lee testified that she walked into her bedroom on the night in question and saw a Negro there crawling under the bed. She testified that she ran downstairs and screamed. She also identified the handbag found on the dead Negro as her own. She stated that Kemp had left her employ about two months ago.

The defendant, Private Beckhart, was then called to testify. He stated that he had been on the force since January 3, 1938. He stated that he saw a Negro walking along County Line road after he had received orders from his sub-station, and that he stopped his white police car and asked the Negro his name. The Negro replied, "Philip Wheeler." Private Beckhart said that he searched the Negro and had him raise his hands above his head, and it was then that he felt the lady's purse.

Beckhart said that he ordered the Negro in the front seat, stating that he was going to take him to the Doylestown sub-station for questioning.

"As I was shifting gears I felt something pushing at my side and I looked and there the Negro was pointing a gun against my side; he had taken my gun out of my holster," Private Beckhart testified. "I applied my brakes and stopped the car. In making this move one shot was fired while the Negro had the gun in his hand. When the shot was fired, I became desperate and used all the strength I had at my command to get the gun away from him. I managed to get my hand on the trigger and I pulled it twice during the struggle. The first shot had no effect on the Negro for he tried to get at me again. I pulled the trigger against the second shot stiffened him a bit, but he still came after me. Then I managed to get the gun away from him and I took hold of the barrel and hit him across the top of the head a couple of times and he slumped down in the seat."

Private Beckhart said that he then got out of the car as he saw another car approaching and that he stopped a car driven by David Worthington, Neshaminy, who accompanied him to Neshaminy where Private Beckhart called his sub-station and reported the affair. Beckhart testified that the Negro never said a word after getting into the police car. Private Beckhart testified that he weighs about 165 and that the Negro was well built and solid. A previous witness stated that the Negro weighed 180 pounds. Private Beckhart said that Kemp fired the first shot and that he fired the other two.

The jury deliberated but 25 minutes in reaching a verdict, most of the time being spent in writing out their findings and commending Private Beckhart for his courage.

Major Ruch, Philadelphia, Captain William Plummer, Harrisburg; Lieutenant Miner, Bethlehem; Corporal William Herman, Doylestown, all members of the Pennsylvania Motor Police, attended the inquest.

dent, are more energetically pushing it than they were before.

THE strategy this time is to avoid publicity rather than court it. For obvious reasons open third-term discussion now would damage third-term prospects. Therefore, the indiscreet propagandists, who some time ago burst out with third term predictions, have been muzzled and the work being done is entirely under cover. But it is none the less intense for that, and the stage has been reached where there is insistence that the third-term nomination will be by acclamation; that Mr. Farley, known not to like the third-term idea, will be compelled to acquiesce under pressure; that there is no other alternative.

NONE of these things are true, but the Administration aides privately assert them. It is not provable that Mr. Roosevelt is actively co-operating, but there is not the least evidence that he is not co-operating. And it is a fact that he knows what is being done, and who is doing it, and has uttered no word and taken no step to discourage them. The plain truth is that while Mr. Roosevelt is maintaining a noble non-partisan attitude of being wholly engrossed in foreign affairs and unconcerned about politics, his closest friends are doing their best to capitalize his attitude in order to renominize him. There is nothing in the present situation to justify blinking these facts, and many whose disposition was to forget domestic politics when the "limited emergency" was unnece-sarily proclaimed are beginning to sense that a game is being played which it is sapsish to ignore.

OFFICIALLY, the White House keeps in position to deny all consideration of politics. Its publicity directors keep the emphasis on the "abandon politisanship" note, but the palace politicians, working like beavers, are preparing to put what some call the "nose twitch" on Mr. Farley to play along with them. The more the President can be kept with his head in the air making nonpartisan gestures, the better for the movement. Hence, he is being urged, first, to avoid anything that looks like an effort to dictate to Congress; second, to take some action to gratify those well-meaning Republicans, like Col. Frank Knox, who have been talking of "coalition government." To this end he is advised to end the feud in the War Department by dropping both Mr. Woodring and Mr. Johnson and naming as Secretary of War an outstanding Republican.

NOTHING, it is urged, could better promote his renomination. It would be a political ten strike—and very smart, indeed. It would be commended by every newspaper in the country. It would immensely strengthen his position without really meaning anything at all. This idea has gotten to the point where the names of Col. William J. Donovan, Representative James Wadsworth, Mr. Dwight Davis and ex-Secretary of State Stimson have been discussed by the White House strategists. There is no reason to believe that in a time of peace any of these men seriously would consider accepting a post which would merely mean absorption into the Roosevelt Administration. Not one would relish being used for bait. Nearly all would be too clear-headed not to see the game. But that the third-term schemers are for it is absolutely true. They are for it, not because there is among them so much as a trace of non-partisanship, but because they believe this non-partisan game is the way to smother opposition and bring about a Roosevelt renomination. It is a slick idea, but for a number of reasons it is not likely to work.

ONE is that, when this embargo fight is out of the way, there will be a revival of interest in domestic issues and an eagerness among the anti-New Deal Democrats who are supporting the President's proposals to demonstrate that they are not supporting the President. Another is that Mr. Farley will not prove amenable to the pressure it is proposed to put on him; another is that before long this war psychosis will have worn itself out. And there are others.
